PARAAKHYA EDUCATION FOUNDATION

"Successful People are not different from others, Thinking of successful people is different from others."

Welcome to Parakhya Education's website! As you navigate through our platform, you'll discover the essence of our organization—our people, our place, and our significant role in the realm of foreign medical education. True to our name, we're dedicated to taking a small step towards a big leap in India's education sector.

First and foremost, I extend my heartfelt congratulations to you for making a wise career decision by choosing to pursue education in the medical field. With your acquired knowledge and skill set, you'll be poised to make substantial contributions to the Indian healthcare landscape.

In my experience, many students are drawn to the medical profession because of familial influences or societal role models. However, it's crucial to select a career path that resonates with your passions and aligns with your long-term aspirations. The demand for doctors in society is perpetual, and advancements in health technology, research methodologies, and patient awareness have revolutionized the scope of the medical profession.

At Parakhya Education Foundation (PEF), we strive to assist MBBS aspirants in selecting the right educational institution without imposing undue financial burdens. Collaborating closely with top universities, we facilitate the student selection process, curriculum development, quality control, and international recognition. Moreover, we provide comprehensive career guidance to students post-graduation.

I am optimistic that our collaboration will enrich your future opportunities and lead you to success in your global career endeavors.

VIETNAM

Why Vietnam ?

In its first participation in Program for International Student Assessment (PISA) in 2012, Vietnam scored higher than the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) average and outperformed many developed economies, including the US. Vanessa Shadoian-Gersing, a former OECD analyst who writes and consults on global education, examines the factors that contributed to this stunning success as well as the opportunities and challenges facing the Vietnamese education system.

Vietnamese students surprised the world with their 2012 PISA results. Other assessments confirm that Vietnamese students and adults have strong numeracy and literacy skills. Vietnam's accomplishments over the past 20 years are indeed remarkable in terms of attendance, completion, and student achievement. In fact, whenever I am in Vietnamese cities, I am impressed by the energy of this dynamic society and its respect for education.
